

An exciting and well-attended Medical Paralibrarians' meeting was held on April 28th at National Jewish Medical & Research Center. The inaugural meeting was in January at Children's Hospital. The group was initially formed to allow us meet one another, share ideas, and discuss issues of interest to the group.

Our plan is to meet quarterly, during the year, at different medical libraries in the area. At each meeting, members tour the host library and bring along their journal exchange lists to search through the host library's journal exchange. Future meetings will include networking, continuing education, and speakers. We are excited to have been approved to be a Special Interest Group (SIG) of CCML at the last CCML Executive Board meeting.

The next meeting will be at the Denison Library on July 28th and we invite all interested Medical Paralibrarians and Librarians to attend. If you would like more information about the Medical Paralibrarian SIG, please contact Lynda Redman at redman.lynda@tchden.org.

Submitted by James Honour, host of the National Jewish Medical & Research Center meeting.