

CCML Paralibrarian July Meeting 7/16/07

Six people attended the 11:00 a.m. meeting at the National Jewish Medical and Research Center, including our guest speaker, Rosalind Dudden. Rosalind is the Health Sciences Librarian of the Gerald Tucker Memorial Medical Library at National Jewish, where she gave a thought provoking presentation on "The Future of Libraries, or, The Library of the Future!" Rosalind used technology during her presentation to bring home the up and coming "Future of Libraries." She utilized a blog featuring videos of several New Jersey librarians answering questions about the future of libraries; a bibliographic handout listing various referenced url's; and she continued her talk with a dynamic PowerPoint presentation by Brad Eden, which focused on technical services within the library experience. Thanks Rosalind for a fabulous presentation that will continue to be relevant in the near and distant future! More details on the next meeting location will be coming.
